A LEVEL-HEADED LADY.

She Prevents a Bank Robbery at Lebanon, Pa.

THE BOLD SCHEME OF THREE MEN.

While One of Them Engages the Attention of the Assistant Cashier Another Tries to Sneak Behind the Counter and Get at the Vault—The Lady Saw What Was Going on and Gave the Alarm—The Criminal Record.

LEBANON, Pa., Sept. 24.—A very daring attempt to rob the People's bank here was neatly frustrated by the shrewdness and prompt action of an observing young lady who lives just opposite the bank. Cashier Wormer had just left and Assistant Cashier Elmer E. Hauer was alone behind the desk in charge. His first visitor was a short, thickset, strange man with a dark beard, who asked a number of green questions about sending a draft to some neighboring town. The next man to enter was a tall person, also a stranger, who, seeing that the assistant cashier was engaged and apparently being in no hurry, stood in the middle of the floor, opened wide a newspaper and seemed to be reading something from its inside pages

Crept Around the Counter.

The third man of the party, who had also come in, was a lightly built young fellow with a smooth face. The latter's movements were completely hid from the cashier's sight by the tall man who stood up holding the spread-out newspaper Suddenly the young man unseen dropped upon his hands and knees and crept around the counter toward the open vault of the bank and to where Assistant Cashier Hauer was sitting The young man had a sand club in his hand, probably to knock Mr Hauer unconscious, but before he got near enough a young woman briskly entered the bank The tall man with the newspaper turned sharply around, still holding the sheet so that the lady could not see in the direction of the cashier "What do you think of this picture?" he boldly asked, and then quickly added "Some one is calling you from the opposite side of the street"

Saved by His Sister.

The young woman quickly stepped away from the man and newspaper and shrieked out 'They're robbers There's one sneaking on his hands and knees. Look out, Elmer, they mean to kill you" Cashier Hauer quickly turned, seized his pistol, and the next moment the three would be burglars dashed for the door and escaped, since which time nothing has been seen of them The young lady was Miss Hauer, the cashier's sister, who lives opposite, who saw the strange men acting suspiciously, and she watched them, and thus in all probability saved many thousands of dollars to the bank.

MISCELLANEOUS WICKEDNESS.

A Robber Put to Flight

CINCINNATI Sept 24—A most revolting attempt at robbery happened at 2 p m Tuesday at the residence of Mrs George Cullom, 150 West Eighth street A young man appeared at the door, representing himself as having been sent by Mrs. Cullom's son-in law for a bucket of coal. Mrs Cullom, who is 82 years old, admitted him He immediately struck her a heavy blow with a club on the forehead. Her screams attracted workingmen next door, who frightened the fellow away His purpose was evidently robbery, as Mrs Cullom is reputed to have considerable money about the house

FROM OVER THE OCEAN

Items of General Interest from Foreign Climes.

A COMBINATION AGAINST STRIKES

A Great Organization of English Employers Which Will Deal with Labor Questions—The Slavin-McAuliffe Fight Will Take Place After All—Emperor William to Visit the United States in 1893—The Compte de Paris.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The newly formed shipping federation now embraces almost the whole of the ship-owning interests of the United Kingdom Its objects are "to deal with labor questions of all kinds, to protect officers, crews and servants of ship-owners against intimidation on the part of trades organizations or their members, to counteract the effects of agitations against the shipping interests, to deal with cases of conspiracy and to indemnify ship-owners whose vessels are delayed by the authority of, or in consequence of, the measures taken by the federation"

Encouragement to Free Labor.

Other industries and interests more or less associated with shipping are connecting themselves with the movement, and it is believed that the shipping interests throughout the British colonies will join the federation. It is virtually a vast mutual insurance company against strikes. Free labor agents, of whom there are already many in Great Britain, will be encouraged to keep lists of non-union men willing to be employed, and in the event of a strike such will be engaged at a higher wage if necessary than that paid to unionists

Leagued for Defense.

The federation has adopted for a motto "Defense, Not Defiance" Operations are to be controlled from central offices in London, and immediate relief supplied in any part of the three kingdoms. The federation asserts that a vast number of the trade unionists have joined or remain in their societies solely because they are afraid of standing aloof from them, and that they would willingly free themselves from the control of trade organizers and be content to make their own bargains with their employers, if they felt themselves at liberty to do so

Slavin and McAuliffe Will Fight.

LONDON, Sept 24—Lord Lonsdale presided at the Ormonde club meeting which lasted two hours Slavin was present The secretary of the club stated that by the decision of the magistrates, the two pugilists are at liberty to compete Therefore, with the view of coinciding with the magistrates, the men have agreed to reduce the number of rounds from thirty to fifteen Slavin has returned to Dover court A nobleman of sporting proclivities has arranged for Jackson, the colored pugilist, to box the winner Both Slavin and McAuliffe have given their consent to this arrangement

Comte de Paris Off for America.

LONDON, Sept 24—There was a brilliant scene at the Euston Square station Tuesday when the Comte de Paris started for Liverpool on his way to America All the royalist exile colony in England had gathered to see the compte off, and the assemblage lacked neither numbers nor enthusiasm The party was attended by an astonishingly large retinue of servants, and will travel in truly royal style Cries of "Vive le roi" went up as the train moved away, and the comte bowed graciously

Why Cert, Invite 'Em All.

BERLIN, Sept 24—It is reported that the Emperor William will visit the United States in 1893, in which event he will visit the world's fair Rev Dr John Hall, who has been traveling on the continent for several months expressed the opinion that the kaiser receive a most hearty welcome in the United States The suggestion has also been made that the national commission of the world's fair might formally invite the presence of the emperor

DISTRESS IN MICHIGAN.

The Crops of a Number of Farmers Destroyed by a Hailstorm.

ASHLAND, Wis, Sept. 24.—A gentleman who has returned from Huron county, Mich., gives a thrilling account of the ravages of the recent storm in a district remote from any telegraph station. A terrific wind and hailstorm prevailed for half an hour throughout a section eighteen miles long by one mile wide. Every spear of grass and grain was beaten down and destroyed, and the ice covered the ground six to eight inches deep This was just at the harvest time, and 200 farmers are in absolute want and in danger of starvation.

The Loss Estimated at $800,000.

The path of the storm was through Scile, Bloomfield and Paris townships. One farmer lost 600 acres of crops worth $40,000. The total loss in crops, stock and other property by the storm is estimated at not less than $800,000. John Phillips, Charles E. Thompson and T. W. Hubbard, prominent citizens of the devastated area, have called a meeting for the purpose of planning some means of obtaining immediate relief for the unfortunates. Many in other sections have suffered severe loss, but have quietly gone to work, hoping in some way to tide their affairs over to another season.

AN IMPORTANT DOCUMENT.

Mr. Powderly Issues Another Letter to the Knights of Labor.

NEW YORK, Sept 24—General Master Workman Powderly of the Knights of Labor is on the warpath again He has issued a circular letter addressed "To the members of the order wherever found" and bearing his signature and the official seal of the order. It is the strongest and in many respects the most important document he has issued since the New York Central strike. After giving the causes leading up to the New York Central strike, he says. "It was clearly evident after the first week that the men would eventually be beaten, but it was necessary to teach the power that controls judges and legislatures that it would be an expensive undertaking to attempt to destroy the manhood of those who created the wealth that went to bribe public officials. To give in the first week would have shown cowardice and would pave the way for future attacks."

A Sham Naval Battle.

HALIFAX, N S, Sept 24—Thousands of spectators witnessed the sham naval attack at this place Wednesday. The warships Bellerophon, Canada and Thrush shortly after 8 o'clock opened the battle by attempting to make a landing near Herring cove, but the big guns of that place compelled the ships to retire in the direction of York Redoubt at full speed. Coming within range of the last named fort the Bellerophon and the Thrush let go broadsides simultaneously, the heavy guns at York Redoubt replying so hotly that if the battle was real Admiral Watson and his fleet would have been blown to atoms The fleet continued up the harbor at a rapid rate, meeting with brisk firing from Forts Ives, McNabs, Clarence and Ogilvie, the fleet firing as they went. The battle lasted forty minutes

KENNEDY TALKED HARD

But His Remarks Were of No Avail.

HE DEFENDS HIS RECENT SPEECH.

The House, However, by a Vote of Yeas 151, Nays 35, Decides to Expunge It from The Congressional Record—The Killing of Gen. Barrundia on an American Vessel Discussed by the House—Work in the Senate.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 24.—Miller, who was Tuesday seated in place of Elliott from South Carolina, appeared at the bar of the house Wednesday morning and took the oath of office. Hitt of Illinois, from the committee on foreign affairs, reported a resolution calling on the president for information relative to the killing of Gen. Barrundia. McCreary of Kentucky vigorously advocated the adoption of the resolution Public sentiment he insisted demanded that there should be a thorough investigation of the killing of a man on an American vessel and under the flag of the United States. There was no law, he said, which permitted Minister Mizner to advise or suggest to the captain of the vessel that it was his duty to give up his passenger.

The Resolution Adopted.

When the minister did that he violated precedent and law. The deck of an American vessel was the territory of the United States Hitt said he believed that every member of the house was in accord in regard to the propriety of adopting the resolution. He wished to know all the facts in reference to the matter, and he was advised that the state department would send the information promptly. He instanced the case of Gomez, a political fugitive on the same line of steamers, whom the government of Nicaragua attempted to arrest The captain by consular advice, had refused to deliver him up. Secretary Bayard had sent a dispatch stating that it had been the plain duty of the captain to deliver Gomez to the local authorities The resolution was adopted

Kennedy Defends His Speech.

Stewart of Vermont, from the committee on judiciary, reported a resolution directing the public printer to exclude from The Congressional Record the entire speech of Representative Kennedy of Ohio, made on the 3d of September, criticising Senator Quay. Kennedy requested to be heard in his own behalf. At first there was a disposition shown to refuse him this request, but after Oates of Alabama said that while he concurred in the report, he thought that the gentleman should be heard, and after Boutelle of Maine declared that it would be an outrage to deny him the request, Kennedy was accorded the floor for twenty minutes Kennedy said that he had asked the committee on judiciary either to let his speech appear in The Record entire or to strike it out entire. He was willing to stand before the people of America on that speech; believing that the people of this country in their first judgment and in their sober second judgment would approve the words he had uttered.

Approved by Republican Papers.

Referring to the portion of the speech delivered in Philadelphia Tuesday night by Speaker Reed, in which the speaker spoke of the house as being the representative body of the people, he said that he knew of no parliamentary body in the land that represented the people of the United States so fully, so completely and so entirely as the body to which he belonged. If the people of the United States were not to be heard on this floor, where could they be heard? He had heard from the country. It had been charged by a few persons that he had given aid and comfort to the Democratic party. What, he asked, were the indications that he had done so He exhibited clippings from newspapers throughout all America, and in all that list he said there was not one single Democratic paper which had approved his speech. But there were hundreds and hundreds of clippings from Republican papers, and with one or two exceptions they approved his words. He also had letters from every section of the land from Maine to California and from the lakes to the gulf indorsing the word, letter and spirit of his speech

The Pledges of His Party.

He was willing to stand before the people of the country and wait for their endorsement. The party to which he belonged had pledged itself in its platform, and during the campaign to perform certain duties and fulfill certain promises. One of those pledges, he said, the first and greatest pledge, was that the Republican party would put on the statute books of the land, a law for the protection of every citizen high or low, rich or poor, white or black, so that he could go to the ballot box, deposit his vote and have it counted. It was because his party had failed to do that that he had stood upon this floor and spoken of broken pledges and broken promises. This house had performed its pledges, and as the speaker said in Maine the other day, it had redeemed every promise made to the people

When Kennedy had finished the house decided by a vote of 151 to 35 to expunge the speech attacking Quay from the record.

Senate Proceedings.

In the senate Wednesday morning, Frye offered a concurrent resolution, which was agreed to, directing the secretaries of state, treasury, war and navy to examine the report and recommendations of the international marine conference of February 1890, and to prepare and submit to congress bills for the enactment into law of such recommendations, so far as they apply to their respective departments and meet their approval. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of bills on the calendar unobjected to.

The senate passed its substitute for the house bill to define and regulate the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States.

The Threatened Famine in Ireland.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—A movement is on foot among prominent men not connected with any Irish societies or political bodies to bring to the attention of America the appalling calamity which now threatens Ireland before actual death from hunger has claimed any victims. Several meetings have already been held, and organization will be so far perfected that the personnel of the organization and its plans will be announced in a few days. It has been decided to organize under the name of the American Committee for the Relief of Ireland. It is proposed to make its work cover both North and South America.

THE SECOND DAY.

THE SECOND RACE MEETING BOOMING RIGHT ALONG.

A Larger Crowd Present Yesterday—Evidences That it Was the Second Day—Wheel of Fortune Doing Big Business—Several Good Races Yesteaday—Some Unfinished Races Postponed—To-Day's Program.

There were several indications that yesterday was the second day of the race meeting. There was a greater jam at the gates and it began earlier. There are many side schemes to be seen and played. To do this without missing any of the heats it is necessary to go on the grounds early, and even to stay late. The people who went out the first day became acquainted with all there was to see and do. They told their friends, and the result was quite a crowd went through the wagon gate at the entrance an hour and a half before the first race was called.

There was the man who loves to walk around to the different stables to gather points that will help him with the pool box and to listen for a while to horse talk. This man was on hand early and he got enough contradictory pointers to drive an old campaign manager of an election crazy. He learned that each horse was bound to win, and also that each horse was equally sure to lose. By the time he got half through he was willing to bet that the earth is a mad house and that the moon is a pacer sure to take first money. And then he went to the pool box and unburdened his aching body by taking off the ballast there was in his pocket book and he succeeded.

And there was the man who thinks the wheel of fortune is not a misnomer. He got out early yesterday and started in to break the bank. Some of him won a few dollars, while most of him lost several. The winners regarded themselves as shrewd fellows; the losers stood ready to testify that fortune is a fool. They will all be out again to-day, and they will go even earlier than yesterday. And they will be on hand still earlier tomorrow. You can tell how a race meeting has advanced by the time the man who wants to beat the wheel of fortune gets on the ground. Continue the races into a second week and he would sleep on the grounds at night. Give him a three week's meeting and he would try to get along without such a little thing as sleep. Add another week and he would convert himself into a Dr. Tanner and then would come the flood.

And there was more popcorn on the ground. This is a product that increases up to the end of the third day of a race meeting. There was the second day's quantity there yesterday. There were some cases of empty pop bottles, but more of filled ones, which showed that the meeting was still developing its first stage.

And the crowd that was present was an earnest of the crowd that usually comes on Thursday. There was a good crowd on the grounds, by far the larger part of which was made up of men. The women who were out Tuesday had to stay at home yesterday to fix their feathers for the great display there is bound to be to-day. This is a straight tip from a man who knows. His wife told him so. She is going out to-day and she is fearful that each of her neighbors are scheming to outshine her. She is also sure that none of them will. And as the ladies are to be out to-day in their prettiest, you can be sure the men are not going on an excursion out of the county. The crowd is sure to be a great one, and you cant afford to miss it.

THE RACING YESTERDAY

was good and kept the people excited until darkness fell. The string of 2-year-old colts and their trotting were worth more than the price of admission. The other events on yesterday's card were still better than the first, but those who attended were just so much ahead of the world.

2 YEAR OLD TROT.

First Heat—Miss Edith, the favorite, was in fifth place from the pole. Just after the start Major broke some, but soon got down to work. Edith pulled out after the first turn as if she understood the necessity of working for her backers. But she was so anxious to get there she thought a little running would be about the thing. She could't run as fast as trot and so this device only fooled her and made her admirers feel poor Major got into first place before the half was done, and held it easily to the end. Edith finished fast, but what money is there in a star finish when it is delayed until next morning? Mutuals paid $3.60 on the heat.

Second Heat—Major was barred in some of the pools. This meant that he was a dead sure winner, and this heat seemed to show as much. He was breaking when the horses were started. He lost a few feet at this, but soon gathered himself and bid good bye to the others. The only horse who might give him a race was Edith, but she would not stay on her feet when she got in company. A trot is not the dance she prefers. She broke badly and fell away behind at close of the half. She then got down to the work that was called for on the program, and by the time the home stretch was reached she was a good second. Here she broke again and dropped back to fourth place. The heat and race went to Major. Helter Skelter and Doctor Caton divided second and third money. Billy K. was distanced, being about 500 yards behind the flag. Mutuals paid $2.85. Following is the summary:

Major, Don McGregor	1	1
Helter Skelter, Abdallah	3	2
Doctor Caton, Ganymede	2	3
Miss Edith, Midas	4	4
Tiglath, Almont Forrest	5	5
Billy K, Golddust	6	dis

Time, 2:49¼; 2:50¼.

2:28 TROT.

Pauline sold favorite in the pools. She was even money against the field. Many had pinned their money to Blaine. Pauline started out to support the faith that had been put on her. It took only 200 yards to show that it was going to be a race between Pauline and Blaine. They both headed the pole horse at the quarter. They came down the half stretch side by side. Pauline had the pole however, and so evenly were the horses matched that this advantage meant the heat. Pauline gained a few feet at each turn and held them to the finish, being about six feet ahead when the turn was reached, and each horse doing the best he knew. Mutuals paid $5.70.

Second Heat—Pauline was now a great favorite, but she went in to make herself the only darling. When the horses got away it was to a fine start. Pauline had the advantage of the pole. Waymart started out as if he wanted the heat, and he trotted the first first half at a gait that would have got it. But he fell down before the third quarter was reached. Blaine was in a bad pocket at the half, and had to stay there until Pauline pulled away from Waymart, thus giving Blaine a chance to get out. The finish was good, but Pauline had a sure thing on the heat. Merlin was put fourth for interfering with Waymart. Mutuals paid $2.85.

Third heat—Pauline now went in and took the heat and race without a break. Waymart served notice at the start that he thought himself good enough to go for first money. When the horses passed the half there was no more than four feet between Pauline in the lead and Waymart in third place. Up the three-quarter stretch Waymart pulled into second place and then had the nerve to try to beat Pauline. The mare pulled away and took a lead of two lengths. This settled it; Waymart knew that he couldn't get in first, so he gave up trying. As second money had been determined by the first two heats, there was no driving finish between Blaine and Waymart. Mutuals paid $2.35.

Following is a summary of the race:

Pauline, Gov. Sprague	1	1	1
Blaine	2	2	3
Waymart, Happy Medium	3	3	2
Merlin, Phallas	4	4	5
Colonel	5	5	4

Time—2:31, 2:31; 2:33¾.

2.33 TROT.

First Heat—The horses got a good start with Carrie C. at the pole. Carrie set the pace very fast. Up the quarter stretch McGregor and Strawn began to pull for the leader. But she was going fast, and then Maud F. had a good deal to say This mare showed that she was in the race as soon as the half stretch was reached. Passing the grand stand she was on even terms with the leader and went to the front just as the horses turned into the three-quarter stretch. Maud held the lead all the way home. Strawn did some good trotting the last quarter and finished a good second. Mutuals paid $3.70.

Second Heat—It took ten trials to start the horses. The driver of Carrie Strawn was fined $5 for persistently scoring in front of the pole horse. This money had to be made back, so Strawn went for the heat. Carrie C. went to the front in short order and Strawn went after her. At the half these two horses were neck and neck. On the three-quarter stretch Carrie C. broke badly and Strawn at once took a sure lead. Down the home stretch, Maud F. pulled up into second place. Strawn was driven hard at the finish to distance some one, but that intention didn't pan out. Mutuals paid $3.50.

Third Heat—Just at the start Carrie C. made a grand effort for the pole, but Strawn had it and wanted to keep it. The race was between these two horses. Strawn got a good lead in the first half mile and was driven hard. At the three-quarter pole it was seen that Carrie C. was closing up. When they came into the home stretch many thought that Carrie C. would win. But there was reserved speed in Strawn and she in the lead came down the stretch just as fast as the spurter behind. She got the heat with two lengths to spare. Mutuals paid $4.60.

Fourth Heat—This was the best heat of the day. The horses got away in good shape just as twilight was coming down. Carrie C. at once made a rush for the pole. Strawn gathered herself in shape to hold it, but tried to fly a bit just when going into the quarter stretch. This break gave Carrie C. the pole, and then there was a race for bloody whiskers from that place clear under the wire. Strawn's driver thought of the $5 he was out already and that made him anxious to collect $200 before going to supper. He pulled alongside Carrie C. at the quarter and from there to the end of the mile it was a whipping race. When the horses passed the half there was not a foot between them. Carrie C. would gain a few inches around the turns and then there would be a fight by the outside mare to regain them. When they came into the home stretch Carrie C. had a lead of a few feet. Mrs. Strawn had this to overcome. She went to work in dead earnest and cut it down inch by inch. But the distance in the straight stretch was not great enough. When the horses passed under the wire Strawn had about six inches that was not yet recovered.

It was now too dark for further racing, and so this one will have to be finished to-day. Strawn has two heats to her credit, and will win the race to-day if she does not show up lame.

The time in which the heats were trotted is 2:31, 2:29¾, 2:30¼ and 2:32¾.

RUNNING RACE.

First Heat—This kind of a race would be a fine thing to look at if one had an eternity to waste in trying to get the horses started. Lillie Lochiel was a warm favorite in the pools. She got a little the worst of the start but managed to come home in second place. The first heat went to Los Webster. Mutuals paid $4.40.

Second Heat—Lillie Lochiel got a better start this time and shot to the front around the first turn. She held first place to the finish, but Los Webster was never more than a few feet behind. A deciding heat will be run between Webster and Lochiel at 10 o'clock this morning. It is necessary to do the running this morning as both horses go in the mile heat race this afternoon. Mutuals paid $2.90. The time for the two heats was 51 and 51¼ seconds.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAM.

Confirmed.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers of the California Fig Syrup company.

100 Ladies Wanted.

And 100 men to call on any druggist for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine, the great root and herb remedy, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. For disease of the Blood Liver and Kidneys it is a positive cure. For constipation and clearing up the complexion it does wonders. It is the best spring medicine known. Large size package 50 cents. At all druggists. 3

Ask Your Friends About It.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarks able sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottle 50c and $1 at all druggists. Sample bottle free. 1

Bible School.

The Bible school will open Monday, Sept. 29, in room 25, Haworth block. Students will please meet me in same room on Friday, 26th inst., at 10:30 a. m., to arrange times of recitation. J. L. PINKERTON, Prin.

Pierson.

J. R. Richey is in Decatur this week.

J. R. Shelton is now called grandfather.

The F. M. B. A. meeting at Maple grove was a success.

Mrs. Skidmore is visiting near Sidell, Douglas county.

James Richey, our dry goods man, has moved to town.

D. L. Crist is a resident of Pierson. There is room for more.

William Snider moved into his new residence this week.

Many of our folks are taking in those cheap excursions west.

A new set of carpenters are at work on Mr. Camp's residence.

Our school is moving off nicely under the present administration.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Yesterday's Work on the Chancery and Common Law Dockets.

The jury for the trial of the Miller vs. Miller case was composed as follows: Paul Smith, Jerome Edwards, B. T. Jump, J. E. Braden, E. B. Burkam, Henry Robinson, William Camp, Mark Moran, James Hopkins, Louis Bailey, J. L. Adams and F. D. Crickman. The case was given to the jury about 2:30 and had not yet made a verdict at 6 when court adjourned. They were to bring in a sealed verdict if they came to a decision during the night, and it will be opened at 8:30 this morning when court meets. The business yesterday was as follows:

COMMON LAW CASES.

Asberry Childers vs. Peter Collins; assumpsit. Trial by jury.

Mary Dingman et al vs. D. W. Brenneman et al; trespass on the case. Dismissed by plaintiff.

George W. Handy vs. John S. Kizer; assumpsit. Demurrer sustained and leave to amend plea.

John A. Tolman company vs. John H. Mauzy, sheriff; replevin. Dismissed by plaintiff and writ of retorno awarded.

John Bender vs. John H. Hood; attachment. Default; court assesses damages $535, judgment and special execution awarded.

Union Iron Works vs. Wells & Kenney; assumpsit. Demurer to first count in declaration.

Frank W. Anderson vs. Western Union Telegraph Company; trespass on the case. Demurer to declaration sustained.

CHANCERY CASES.

George W. Woodford vs. Sophia Woodford; divorce. Proof of publication.

Lulu Sutter vs. John Sutter; divorce. Proof of publication.

Elizabeth J. Cummings and Frederick Norman vs. Catherine Glautz; chancery. Proof of publication.

The jury on the case of Childers vs. Collins is composed as follows: Frank Ralston, W. B. Robinson, Harry Ehrman, R. D. Wilson, Charles Young, C. D. Majors, N. Kennedy, J. S. Carter, John H. Turner, Richard Nelson, C. B. Lockwood, I. F. Harlan. Childers is suing for board or Collins while Mrs. Collins was away from home. There was some amusement when a man on the stand testified that if his wife had left him so, he would have taken a club to make her mind.

Correct Business Methods.

As an illustration of what business, tact and energy will accomplish, no better instance can be afforded than the wonderful success that has attended the Culver Monument works. By executing only first-class work, and employing only the most competent artisans. Here are some of the orders that have just been delivered or are now being executed, all of them being strikingly handsome in design and most tasteful in execution. Willis Disbrow, Lane, Ill., David Houser, Hickory Point, Martin Burns, Warrensburg, Henry Weigle, Rolling Springs, M. Green, Center Ridge, Mary E. Woods, Center Ridge. Also two magnificent Italian monuments for Mrs. Albin, of Hickory Point and an Italian monument for Mrs. Mary Rue, Rolling Springs. All of these orders were taken by J. H. Rainey.

Mary F. Newell to Sarah Park, lot 1, block 1, second Rolling Mill addition; $300.

A Surprise Party

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel 1582 North Church street Tuesday night was a grand affair. It was given in honor of Mr. McDaniel's sister, Mrs. Nannie Ellis and her friend Mrs. Mary Ellis, of Eldorado, Kan., at the same time being a surprise on Mr. McDaniel. About 50 friends and relatives were present. Refreshments were served at 10:30 o'clock. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Averett, Mr. and Mrs. Lumpford, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Boutwell, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. McDaniel, Mrs. and G. W. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Adams, Misses Rettie Robbins, Muldy, Lena McDaniel, Charles Potter, Thomas Long, Thomas Robbins, Mr Allison.

Boy Under Cars.

Ed Schlem, a 15 year-old son of Joseph Schlem, bridge carpenter on the Wabash, tried to jump a Central freight train about 8 last night at the crossing of Edmund street. He missed his hold and went under the cars. His right foot was badly crushed. The boy was removed to his home at the corner of Edmond and Morgan streets and Drs. W. J. and Cass Chenoweth, and Dr. J. S. King were called. Dr. W. J. Chenoweth, assisted by the other two took the foot off at the instep. The lad will have part of his foot to walk on and will soon be able to get around.

Minstrels.

Cleveland's Colossal Colored Carnival Minstrels are headed this way, and will pay our city a visit Saturday. This mammoth organization, which contains all the colored notables, is positively the "biggest, blackest, boomiest boom" ever placed on the road, composed, as it is, entirely of the pick of genuine colored artists of this and foreign countries. Seven unique novelties will be introduced: The illuminated first part, the batallion drill, the royal guards, the pickaninnies' frolic, 16 Bizarre dancers and a world of wonders.

Bananas for the Races.

G. W. Ehrhart & Co. are on hand with another car of bananas, and they are guaranteed to be as choice as any ever offered. It has been very difficult to procure bananas this summer and the above firm deserve great credit for their efforts to meet the demands of the trade in this respect. Dealers should send in their orders at once and they will receive prompt attention.

A Birthday Watch.

A number of his young friends surprised John W. Thomas at his home on Mason street last night by calling in a body and presenting him with a fine silver watch, in honor of his 21st birthday. A pleasant evening was afterwards enjoyed. Those present were, G. B. Hauk, O. K. Kaylor, A. Beems, H. Kepler, G. Paxton, E. Schisler, C. Curtis, G. Fruit.

A BOY FOUND.

A Bright Child Who Doesn't Seem to Belong to Any One.

A bright little boy, apparently about two and a half years old, was found on North Clayton street yesterday just after dinner. He was poorly dressed and not very clean, but handsome and intelligent, and had a frank and friendly little way of talking to those around him, that won all their hearts. He was first seen in company of an Italian woman who was peddling trinkets. She said, however, that she only found him at the corner and had walked down with him, where she left him. He didn't seem to be interested in her. He was too young to tell his name, but when asked where he was going, said: "Going to find mamma; she's gone up there," pointing to the north.

Mrs. Thomas Jones at 1155 North Clayton street, took the boy in and will keep him until he is found.

A thorough search was made over the northeast part of the city last night, but no one could recognize the child.

It is supposed the child has been kidnapped and abandoned by the kidnappers, or that its parents left it, but neither supposition looks very probable.

A CRY OF ANGUISH

THE Continued and sustained advances in the price of shoe materials has caused a readjustment of values in footwear of all kinds. The goods made in New England and shipped from Boston were raised in price some time ago. From ten to fifteen cents a pair on shoes and from two to three dollars a case on boots about represents the change. In view of the continued strength of the leather market, selling at the old prices is not likely to last much longer. * * The shoe manufacturers are in a considerable dilemma. Leather may go higher; it is almost impossible for it to decline. The shoe manufacturer might take orders based on present values of leather if he could buy enough to cover himself. There are no stocks of leather available. Manufacturers refuse to guarantee the prices. As outlined in our interview with manufacturers last week many concessions formerly granted will be withdrawn.—Shoe and Leather Review, Sept. 11.

It goes up from jobbers, manufacturers, and wholesalers. The great advance in shoes as indicated in the above extract from the Shoe and Leather Review, has induced many wholesalers to withdraw their men from the road, the idea being that they can make more money by holding on to the stock and waiting for the raise in value than they can by selling now at a profit. The prices of all kinds of leather, uppers, kids and dongolas have greatly advanced, and it is inevitable that prices must advance on every kind of shoes. We feel that it is our duty to the good people of Decatur and Macon county to maintain the low prices we have made on shoes until the present stock is exhausted. We think that the liberal patronage of Macon county people for us during the last quarter century has deserved all the favor we can give them in return.

We insist, however, upon the truth that the prices we are now making cannot last, that we cannot replace the goods at old figures, that higher prices must be the rule, and that after the present stock is exhausted we cannot continue to offer such bargains. To buy now is to get a bargain. Buy now if you would save money. The people have learned about the big advance in leather of all kinds. Don't wait until your neighbors have exhausted the present stock. Buy now—it will pay.

Sept. 24.

DUNHAM'S LETTER.

HE WRITES TO AN OLD FRIEND IN DECATUR.

He Talks Feelingly About His Fate and Again Declares His Innocence—His Prosecutors will Go to Hell and He Will Go to Heaven—Something About His Life.

Albert Dunham, one of the men sentenced at Monticello to be hung for the murder of Harley Russell has written a letter to James Sampson, of Decatur, an old friend. Dunham's mother died when he was very small, and he was brought up by the father of Mrs. Sampson. Dunham has worked a great deal for Mr. Sampson, and that gentleman knows him quite well. He thinks him innocent of the crime, and says while he is unlettered and never had any opportunities for advancement, he is not bad. It was stated that he was sent to the penitentiary for horse stealing. That was partly a mistake. He was sent to the penitentiary when very young for stealing a watch. The watch belonged to a friend, and Dunham took it, but without effort to conceal the fact. His friends say that it was not his intention to steal it. However, he was convicted of that crime, and the fact was used against him when he was on trial for his life.

The letter, which is given here in full, was written in a fair hand, but with many mistakes, which are corrected:

MONTICELLO, Sept. 20, 1890.

Mr. James Sampson:

Dear Friend—I take my pen in hand to write you a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope these few lines will find you all the same. Well, I will write to you now probably for the last time, as the end of my life is near. It will be the 17th day of October when I shall swing from the gallows and go to my death for the murder that has been done by some one else. I have to take the blame for it, but I will say to you that it is all right. I will go an innocent boy my God to meet. I ask you to keep this letter, as you will yet hear from the guilty parties. They will be found out some time, but it may be too late for me on this earth. But in heaven I will meet you and all those that swore a lie on me and prosecuted me. I will meet them at the gates of heaven and then they will have it all to answer for. While I stand at the gate of Heaven I can have them answer for all those wrongs that they have done to me, and see them go down the road to destruction and I can go to Heaven and rejoice, while the rest are tormented. But I will forgive them for what they have done to me. I will never see you on this earth, but in Heaven I will meet you. I did not know how to find you until Jim Towers came to see me. He said that you were in Decatur. He went to see Henry to try to get him to pay for a lawyer, but he would not help me. It is all right, as I have done all for him that I could. I have not much to write for this time. I may have a chance to write to you again, if you write to me. I wish you would come down to see me before I must die, but if we never see each other on this earth, I will meet you all in Heaven. I am innocent of the crime. I can go to the scaffold to meet my death and meet my God. This is all for this time. From your true friend,

ALBERT DUNHAM,
Monticello, Piatt county Ill.

Good-by to you and all if we don't meet on this earth. Write soon and often.

TWO WEDDINGS

Wortham-Kizer.

William L. Wortham of Tuscola and Miss Flora B. Kizer of Decatur, were married last night at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kizer, 331 West Cerro Gordo street. Only a few friends beside the family were present. The groom is a store keeper of prominence at Tuscola, and the bride who is well known and popular here has been a clerk at the store of W. C. Dimock. They will return to Tuscola to live.

Sullivan-Hayes.

Michael Sullivan and Miss Mary Hayes were married yesterday afternoon at St. Patrick's cathedral by Rev. Father McGuire. Miss Julia Flynn acted as bridesmaid, and Thomas Hayes, brother of the bride, was best man. In the evening a large reception was given them at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hayes, 837 North Morgan street. Over 100 invitations were issued and a large number were present to tender their congratulations and enjoy the bountiful good time that was provided. A fine supper was served at 7:30 o'clock, and after that dancing filled the evening. Mr. Sullivan is a very popular passenger conductor on the Wabash, having risen rapidly from the bottom, where he commenced as brakeman. He is a young man of good character and liked by all his associates. The bride is also popular and pleasant, and the couple are well worthy of one another. THE REVIEW wishes them all joy.

The Great Metropolis.

The melodrama of the above name, a tale of the life savers of Sandy Hook, attracted a large audience to the Grand last night, the balcony and gallery being especially well filled. The play is thick with plot and incident but the special feature which makes it attractive as it certainly is, is the numerous fine pieces of scenery, mechanical and otherwise, which are carried by the company. The scene in the first act of the billiard room is a beauty. The Sandy Hook light house and beach scenes were also masterpieces. In act four the life-saving station and the wreck of the "Flying Fish" with rescue of the imperiled sailors by means of the breeches-buoy was most realistic. The view of East river and Brooklyn bridge by moonlight was very natural. The scene artists who did the work are among the most noted in the country, Phillip Goatcher being the artist who made the scenery for the great New York production of the "Old Homestead." Ben Teal who staged the play is considered one of the greatest stage managers in the country. He had charge of the stage the night of the grand testimonial production of Hamlet in honor of Lester Wallack at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, in May, 1886. Harry Weaver, who played Will Webster, captain of the life savers, is the son of Harry Weaver, Sr, who played the part of the hunchback with Julia Marlowe here Monday night. There were a number of good people in the cast, and the melodramatic scenes were all well given. William Friend, as Benjamin Bert, the real estate boomer, caught the crowd by his fun and songs. They should have a good house again to-night.

Forgot the Baby.

A man, his wife and four children, all small, climbed on a west bound train a day or two ago, just before it pulled out. They were going to Palmer, and clearly were country people of the poorest class. The woman had on a sunbonnet and in her arms carried a measly-looking little cup, which she held up to her shoulder with the air of the greatest affection. The family were not seated before the train had pulled out and was going at good speed. After all were settled near together, the woman looked around casually, and then with some little show of interest, but not concern, asked, "Why where's the baby?" No one seemed to know. They didn't seem to care a great deal, as a passenger said afterwards, but the man seemed to think he had better look around. So he began and looked from one end of the car to the other, glancing under the seats near where his party had camped. No baby was found. Then a family council was held and it was decided that the child was last seen lying on a seat in the waiting room at the depot. By that time the train was three or four miles out, and though it was late, the conductor stopped to let the man off. He walked back and found the baby still asleep in the waiting room, as yet unnoticed by any one. The father found it and then waited for the next train.

The passengers on the train were a great deal more worked up by the circumstance than any of the family. One lady in black began to cry, and in response to a question said it hurt her to see that people who didn't care for children could keep them, while others who did care for their children couldn't keep them, but had them taken away. She had lost a little one only a short time before Dismissed.

Peter Mitchell, a cook on a Wabash dining car, swore out a warrant a few days ago for the arrest of J. H. Krebs, the conductor, complaining that "he maliciously opened a letter belonging to said Mitchell and withheld the envelope of the same." Mr. Krebs was released on his own recognizance when the warrant was served by Officer John Williamson. The case was called yesterday before Justice A. C. Stevens and was soon dismissed as there was nothing in it. Mr. Krebs had opened the letter by mistake. It was given him with a number of his own and he opened it without looking at the superscription. As soon as he found that the letter was not for him, he handed it to Mitchell.

Police Notes.

Charles Smith forfeited a bond to Justice Curtis yesterday for being drunk. It was enough to cover the usual fines and costs.

The boy burglars were before Justice Hammer yesterday on the charge of burglary and larceny at the house of Hiram Chapman. That charge would send them all to Pontiac, as the case was plain against them. They mutually decided therefore that it would be better for them to plead guilty to disorderly conduct which they did and were each fined $5 and costs. Part of the fines were paid and the others given till Saturday to raise the money. Those fined were Theodore and John Wekeman, W. McIntyre, Will Schadrick, and Wesley Oyler. George Walser was discharged as it was found that he was not in it.

Don't Jump off Moving Cars.

The danger of jumping off moving electric street cars while in motion is considerable, and passengers should wait until the cars have stopped for them. A well known young man jumped from a moving car while it was going quite rapidly on Water street and alighted on his hands and knees, sustaining several scratches and tearing his trousers square across the knee.

STRAY SCRAPS.

"The Great Metropolis" again to-night.

There are a great many crooks in the city.

The coal dealers are as busy as any one now.

The Syrians led the prayer meeting at the Presbyterian church.

Conductor Selbee, of the P., D. & E., is taking a short layoff.

There was a small break in the dam at the water works yesterday.

Tom Nicholson, car accountant of the T. H. & P., has gone to Dixon.

The train from the east on the Wabash yesterday was about an hour late.

The W. C. T. U. will have an important meeting this afternoon at its rooms.

The machinery is being set up in the new elevator of the Union Elevator company.

M. B. Hall has been granted an increase of pension which makes his total now $25.

The feed yards were well filled yesterday. There were a great many country people in to the races.

The funeral of the late H. S. Evans will be held at 8:30 this morning. He was well known here.

The Order of the Eastern Star will celebrate its anniversary with a banquet on Friday evening.

John Hatfield expects to move next week into the J. G. Starr homestead on West Main street, which he has leased.

The Citizens' Street Car company is shipping two cars of old trucks away. It is the remains of the old mule line equipment.

A new cash register of very handsome appearance was put into the lunch stand at the Union depot yesterday. It cost $175.

Rev. W. L. Bankson is conducting a protracted meeting at Hedgerow church near Blue Mound, that is exciting considerable interest.

The T. H. & P will sell round trip tickets next Monday to Cincinnati, Hamilton and Carlisle, O., for $5.50, good to return for 15 days.

Joseph A. Kinnaman of Flora and Miss Christena R. Howell of LaPlace were married yesterday afternoon by Judge W. E. Nelson in his office in the county building.

Rev. M. M. Goodwin has received two fine photographs of the laying of the cornerstone of St. John's church. They were made by Mr. Henderson of the East End gallery.

The Short Line has been unsuccessful in its efforts to get the consent of property owners to go on Jackson street between Wood and Main and is now trying to go on Franklin street.

Col. McTwiggan, of the Short Line, expects to leave Decatur soon for a more important field of operation. He goes to superintend the equiping of a suburban road in Chicago.

Attorney J. M. Gray thinks he will have to get a new overcoat soon. He went in to supper at the St. Nicholas, leaving the coat in the hallway. When he came out it was gone. It cost $25.

Street cars will be run from Lincoln square to the race track every 20 minutes all day, and as the rush gets greater in the afternoon cars will be run as often as necessary to accommodate it.

D. S. Myers of Cerro Gordo, is organizing a party of 20 to go to California to remain six months. They will leave next Saturday. It is a pleasure trip. There are still a few vacancies in the party.

Harry Jimison, with a pair of mules and a scraper, was filling in the Broadway sewer yesterday. The mules and scraper slipped into the big ditch and all disappeared. They were gotten out without injury, however.

The hotels were all full last night and many late comers had to take cots. A great many strangers have been brought to the city by the races. There were large delegations here yesterday from Tuscola, Clinton, Lincoln and other towns around.

A horse hitched to one of Cully Bowman's coal wagons balked at the coal shaft yesterday about 1. It was 3 o'clock before the teamster got started away, and then the starting was done very simply. The horse's tail was tied to the double tree.

Five new drug stores are among the new business enterprises which will probably be established in Decatur in a few weeks. One in the Library block, one in the opera house block, one on East Eldorado street, one on Lincoln square, and one on North Park street.

There are few weeks in the course of many years when as many big attractions are seen at the opera house in one week as this week. Every night but one is taken by a strictly first class company. So far all have done a good business and the managers are well satisfied.

W. C. Mulley was arrested last night by Officer John Williamson on complaint of Dickey, the restaurant keeper, who charged him with refusing to pay his board. He owed $9 and Mr. Dickey thought he was not going to pay it. When brought before Justice Curtis, however, he said he would, and gave security to pay a certain amount every week until all is paid.

The ground and street is being graded on West William street, preparatory to commencing work on W. L. Dumont's new house on William street north of H. W. Hill's residence. Architect Starbuck has charge of the work. The building will cost about $4,000 and will be different from most residences erected of late years. It will have a stone foundation.

Noah W. Tohill and family returned to their home in Long Creek township Tuesday evening and found their big barn burning and the house just starting to burn. They saved the latter but the former was destroyed. The loss was $3,000 with $1,000 insurance. It was another incendiary fire.

The storage warehouse at the ice factory will be ready for use next week. The lower floor has been fixed up for Nels Morris & Co. It is conveniently arranged with a number of tracks and fixtures for handling dressed beef easily and quickly. The second floor will be rented to any one who wants to put anything in cold storage.

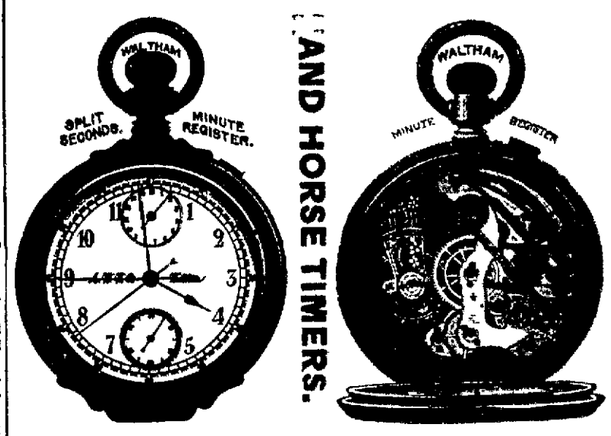

All Decatur is going to the races to-day.

The manager of the Bluebeard Jr. company took all of his people out to the races Tuesday. He was quite indignant that the ladies had to go in at the cattle gate, and made some objection to it. He stopped the newspaper men as they came into the opera house that night, and wanted a big kick made. This is in the line of his suggestion.

The Monticello Murder Case.

S. R. Reed, one of the prosecuting attorneys in the murder case at Monticello, was in Decatur and in conversation about the murder case and the confession of Mrs. Holden, he expressed the opinion that it would have no effect and that nothing at all would be done about it. People there put little faith in it and do not pay much attention to it. The evidence was too conclusive to overthrow by a confession of that kind which was fully expected, which could not harm her in any way, and which might save her son.

Planning for a Park.

A. N. Carpenter, a landscape architect from Galesburg, was in the city yesterday to look over the ground at Fairview park to decide on a plan for beautifying it. Mayor Kanan and the park committee composed of Aldermen May, Harwood and Graham escorted Mr. Carpenter to the park But little will be done this year, but it is desired to have some plan arranged, and next year when $3,000 to $5,000 will be spent on the park it can be done harmoniously and with some design. The possibilities of the park are great.

A Novelette.

The hands of the clock were toiling around to the place that marks the hour of midnight Harry had come early that evening, but he took no chances on Maud's becoming lonely

"Sometimes," he said, "you look at me in a way that I do not understand. It seems more than anything else as if you experienced a dread of me"

"I don't know," she mused, "perhaps I do"

"In what way?"

"I think it might be best described as a lingering dread."—Washington Post

A Discreet Watchmaker.

Lady (paying for repairs on her husband's watch)—What ailed it?

Jeweler—A hair was tangled in with the escapement.

Lady (anxiously)—What color?

Jeweler—Exactly the color of yours—Jewelers' Weekly.

Where It Was.

Careful Housekeeper—Where is that sheet of sticky fly paper I left on this table?

Small Boy—I put it on th' arm chair in th' parlor. You'll find half of it on sister an' th' other half on Mr Hughard.—Street & Smith's Good News.

Cancer of the Nose.

In 1875 a sore appeared on my nose, and grew rapidly. As my father had cancer, and my husband died of it, I became alarmed, and consulted my physicians. His treatment did me good, and the sore grew larger and worse in every way, until I had concluded that I was liable from its effects. I was persuaded to take S. S. S., and a few bottles cured me. This was after all the doctors and other medicines had failed. I have had no return of the cancer.
